

Strategies to Teach Argumentative Writing

Cultivating strong K-12 writers

SIMPLE & EFFECTIVE STRATEGIES TO IMPROVE ACHIEVEMENT IN WRITING

Online Workshop Overview

It's not by accident that the first type of writing listed in the standards is persuasive/argumentative. More than just restating information, students must know how to articulate their feelings, opinions, and viewpoints based on logical reasons and relevant evidence. However, for many teachers, this standard is an area of anxiety and weakness. Through this online workshop, K-12 teachers will obtain dozens of lesson ideas that they can easily incorporate into their yearlong writing curriculum.

Workshop Topics

- Dissect the argumentative writing standard for what it looks like in primary, intermediate, and secondary classrooms.
- Receive dozens of mini-lesson ideas that target the essential skills in strong opinion, persuasive, and argumentative writing.
- Learn which conventions are most relevant in opinion-based writing units.
- Incorporate media-based texts, including commercials, infomercials, documentaries, online resources, wordless picture books, video clips, and more.

When you complete this workshop you'll be able to

- ▶ Recognize the subtle but significant differences between persuasive and argumentative writing.
- ▶ Weave frequent argumentative writing experiences into subject-area learning and literary reading.
- ▶ Support students in identifying things they want to change, suggestions they want to make, and problems they want to solve.
- ▶ Execute a customized calendar of lessons to teach opinion, persuasive, and/or argumentative writing.

*"Love your handouts, your energy, & the wonderful ideas.
Our kids are better prepared thanks to you!"*

Christopher Alber, principal at Riley Elementary School, LaPorte, IN

Direct Ties to Standards

The strategies shared during this webAcademy online workshop target the reading and writing standards outlined within the College & Career-Ready Standards.

What others say about Kristina's workshops

"I love the energy and the examples of students in the classroom were realistic and relatable which made the material seem plausible in my own classroom."

Brittany Sylvia, teacher at Anderson High School, Anderson, IN

"I will be sharing several takeaways with not only the reading teachers—but the science and social studies teachers. Kristina was so entertaining. She spoke to all levels of learning. Her knowledge of the material and the standards was spot on. I will be recommending her workshops to fellow educators." Julie Wandrie, teacher at Saint Paul Lutheran School, Westlake, OH

Top reasons to watch & learn from this online workshop

1. Just assigning students to do more writing won't improve their writing.

The secret to writing success is pairing frequent writing opportunities with explicit writing instruction. Students need their teachers to break down the abstract qualities of good writing. More than telling students what to do, our writing curriculum must include a heavy dose of how to do it.

2. Argumentative and informative writing are essential skills for today's students.

Conveying information clearly and articulating a strong argument are among the more challenging writing skills reflected in today's standards. Kristina will provide dozens of lesson ideas to help teachers address these modes of writing with confidence.

3. Students need to recognize different writing purposes.

Writing to inform is very different than writing to persuade or share feelings. Students must learn the unique characteristics of the different modes of writing in order to fully accomplish writing tasks.

Top questions teachers ask about teaching writing units

- ▶ How many different types of writing should I plan to teach in a year?
- ▶ There are so many writing skills I could teach; which ones are most important?
- ▶ How do the 6 Traits fit into the different writing units?
- ▶ Is argumentative writing really all that different from persuasive writing?
- ▶ What is a "short research project" as stated in the writing standards?
- ▶ How do you teach students to stop plagiarizing in informative writing and omit the words I and you in argumentative writing?
- ▶ How can my writing instruction prepare students for the skills they need when writing about their reading on standardized assessments?
- ▶ How can I incorporate informative and argumentative writing into my subject-area learning?
- ▶ How do you wean students off dependence on the teacher to hand-hold them through the writing process/unit?
- ▶ What read alouds/mentor texts would enhance my writing mini-lessons?

Kristina provides the answers to these questions and many more!

Continuing Education Credit

With prior approval from the registrant's school district, participants may receive credit for 5 hours of professional development for this webAcademy online workshop. Attendees who choose the "Verified View" option may download a completion certificate after completing the online workshop. ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Kristina Smekens

Kristina Smekens is a full-time literacy consultant who has built a reputation for using enthusiasm, humor, and common sense to equip K-12 educators with practical, demystifying strategies for teaching reading and writing.

As president and lead consultant for Smekens Education, Kristina is constantly developing new strategies for helping teachers to meet the demands of today's College and Career-Ready Standards. She and her associates share those strategies with teachers across the United States and beyond through on-site professional development, regional seminars, and an always-growing pool of print, digital, and video resources.

A PRESENTER

Kristina has a gift for making the complex seem simple—for showing teachers how to meet the needs of readers and writers by bridging the gap between education research and practical, classroom-tested strategies that work. When she presents at state and national conferences, teachers flock to her sessions because they know Kristina will share strategies they can use in their own classrooms the very next day.

But beyond providing teachers with practical classroom techniques, Kristina is also a master at giving educators the motivation and encouragement they need to return to their classrooms with confidence and excitement to execute change. To stay connected, Kristina sends out a weekly newsletter, "Big Ideas." Thousands of teachers watch their email each Tuesday for it to arrive.

AN AUTHOR

Well known for offering innovative ideas, Kristina has created more than 50 "Smekens Originals," a compilation of books, guides, and classroom tools designed to help teachers implement best-practice literacy strategies. Among the most popular of these resources are her best-selling books, Launching the Writer's Workshop: Grades K-2 and Grades 3-12. Other popular publications include The Trait Mate: 6-Traits Starter Lessons, Connecting Comprehension

& Composition, Sing & Comprehend, Close Reading Questions for Literature, Close Reading Questions for Informational Text, Trait Trackers, and Serving Up Synthesis. Additionally, Kristina is the author of Trait-Based Writing: Lessons and Activities (Scholastic, 2009).

A CRAFTER

Beyond books and physical teacher tools, Kristina has also created a library of on-demand professional learning videos that are utilized by teachers around the world. With topics ranging from "Building Kid-Friendly Writing Rubrics" to "Achieving a Close Reading," each of Kristina's "webPD" videos uses a seminar-style format to capture her energy and enthusiasm while conveying her teacher-friendly ideas.

BACKGROUND

Kristina earned her BA in English and education at Michigan State University. Prior to her full-time consulting career, she was an accomplished high school English and journalism teacher in Michigan and Indiana. A leader in state and national scholastic journalism endeavors, Kristina authored a journalism textbook and teachers' guide for Walsworth Publishing in 2002.

Over the years, she has been blessed to work and learn with hundreds of schools and thousands of teachers throughout the Midwest. She was awarded the Excellence in Reading Award by the Indiana State Reading Association in 2013 for her contributions to literacy in Indiana.

Kristina lives in Warren, Indiana with her husband and business partner Brady, their three teenage children, and a rambunctious family dog named Buddy.

"Kristina just takes the guess work out of everything to make it ALL make sense!"

Nicki King, teacher, Union Furnace Elementary, Logan, OH

"Oh. My. Goodness. Kristina is an amazing and entertaining presenter! Her energy is SO motivating and inspirational! Loved it ALL!"

Staci Rooze, teacher at Wea Ridge Middle School, Lafayette, IN

"Kristina was fantastic! I learned new and exciting strategies to improve student writing."

Jenae McKnight, instructional coach, Lake Ridge New Tech Schools, Gary, IN

"I feel more prepared to dig deeper into skills that will help my students perform better on state testing. These skills will also help my students become better reading and writers."

Megan Joseph, teacher at Warren Middle School, Vincent, OH

"Kristina covered every topic I needed to bring back with me. I will be sharing several takeaways with not only the reading teachers—but the science and social studies teachers. She spoke to all levels of learning. Her knowledge of the material and the standards was spot on."

Julie Wandrie, teacher at Saint Paul Lutheran School, Westlake, OH

"After 33 years of teaching, I still am drawn back into Kristina's workshops because they are research-based, standards-focused, and very interactive."

Katie Cadle, teacher, Paoli Community Schools, Paoli, IN
